Fundamentals of Communication: Pitches, Posters and Presentations

23-27 November 2026

Online Course

Deadline to register: 25 October 2026

An interactive workshop guiding participants through the core principles of effective scientific communication, including structure, storytelling, slide and poster design, and visual clarity. The workshop combines theoretical insights with hands-on exercises carried out individually and in small groups, allowing participants to apply the concepts directly to their own projects.
